“Playfulness, technology and interaction in a range designed to keep you in mind.”

Designed by Peter Roth,

Smart Qube is the perfect addition to lounges and casual seating areas. It answers the need for adaptability and flexibility in these areas and can be set up by the users themselves.

Added functionality with the optional charging point/USB/power socket integrated in the product offers the option to charge any devices on the go. It also brings a playful element with the zips and added interaction with the user (seating, charging your phone, using the table or changing configurations). The Smart Qube range is the perfect balance between all these elements and will help you redefine your space.
